Innovative Baby Clothes & Luxury Gifting

Stylish Sustainable Baby Clothes That Spell “Elegance”.

Born in Italy and shaped in the Netherlands, Olandino is a luxurious baby clothing brand inspired by the evolving eco-friendly, slow fashion initiative.

Nevena Mijailović Kostira, a seasoned architectural engineer, first came up with the idea of Swopper upon stepping into the world of parenthood in 2018. Everything started as an attempt to cope with the never-ending feed-take off-wash-repeat cycle every new parent gets to experience. Witnessing the distress her baby suffered during changing sessions came with its own set of challenges. So, she couldn't help but wonder if there was anything she could do to prevent such a hassle.

Yes—parents were always free to choose soft materials, delightful patterns, and vibrant colors for their little ones. Yet, the design and the fundamental functionality of baby onesies seemed to be stuck in a bygone era. Regardless of how cute their outfit is, babies always get fussy as soon as they feel their onesies go over their heads or wrap around their little arms and legs.

Besides that, there's also an environmental concern. New parents spend thousands of liters of water on endless laundry sessions, having to change their babies' clothes multiple times throughout the day. Additionally, throwing out the clothes their children outgrow increases the unceasing pile of textile waste, threatening to endanger the only planet we have.

Needless to say, all this was calling for a never-before-seen solution, and that's how Olandino came to be.

Our newest collection is a celebration of slow fashion, where each piece is meticulously handmade by skilled artisans. Emphasizing extraordinary quality and unique design, these creations represent the pinnacle of craftsmanship and dedication.

Each piece in this collection is entirely handmade by highly skilled women, masters of their craft, passed down through generations. These artisans breathe life into every stitch, using techniques like double moss stitch, working with luxurious yarns such as Merino wool and cashmere, sourced from the finest fibers in the world.

This is high fashion done slow, where every pattern varies, making each piece as unique as the hands that crafted it. Created in very limited numbers, these treasures embody exceptional craftsmanship, blending tradition with couture-level quality.

Knitting is much more than a craft—it is a longstanding tradition embedded in the fabric of family life, passed down through generations.

The artisans who bring these pieces to life carry forward a legacy of care and dedication that has sustained families for generations. In every garment, you'll find not only premium materials but also the unique stories of the women behind them — a tradition of skill, patience, and craftsmanship woven into every stitch.

Because handmade isn't just a method — It's a memory.

Functional baby clothes make moms happier, too!

The revolutionary design of our baby onesies with removable bibs you can change in a few seconds will greatly contribute to the closeness you share with your baby.

Replace only the Swopper and save water.

By choosing our earth-friendly and functional baby garments, you'll avoid endless laundry piles. Moreover, you save more than a thousand gallons of water per year.

Clothes that are sustainable by design = no bibs or textile waste.

Thousands of bibs and other baby clothes end up as textile waste.

Don't let yourself be part of this terrifying statistic—swap bibs with our Swoppers!

No seasons. Produced in small batches.

Say goodbye to mass production and new onesies each season. We bring you small batches of elegant pieces of clothing that know no seasons and always remain fashionable.

Bespoke and fashionable: One Swopper, endless possibilities.

Olandino's stylish yet subtle sustainable baby onesies can be customized as per your wishes and ideas, making the choice of your baby's outfits for various events a breeze.
